Biomax Informatics — August 29, 2000

Biomax Informatics, a leader in custom-designed bioinformatics solutions, launches the fastest and most flexible database retrieval system available. The BioRS™ system is a powerful database retrieval system which quickly and easily integrates heterogeneous databases with in-house proprietary or commercial databases. The system enables researchers to work with hundreds of biological databases including EMBL, GeneBank, PIR etc. through easy-to-use WWW interfaces. BioRS saves time and presents results with optimized interface graphics.

As the amount of information being contributed to databases around the world increases almost daily, the BioRS Retrieval System will simplify database searches and bring increased productivity and efficiencies to life science research projects everywhere.

For more information about BioRS and other bioinformatics solutions, contact Biomax Informatics at phone: +49 89 895574-0, email: info@biomax.de or www.biomax.de.
